"Well, in brief, he sent a letter to Colonel Rockwell, one of the Chum Cabinet now, that he wished the Towpath idiocy would cease, that his canalboat experience was only an incident in his life, and that people might as well organize school-

Why, we are going to try to get the club together again, denounce the base ingratitude of Garfield, and reorganize under another name for Conkling and Stalwartism. That's what we are going to do,"

"You appear to be a little mad about Garfield." "Mad is no name for it," said the Towpather. We worked like the devil to elect him, and, while our effective work was one of the minor incidents of the compaign, we at least thought he would appreciate our labors, and not dub us as idiots after

THE SUNDAY QUESTION.

The Constitutionality of the Alexandria Law to be Tested. The recent Sunday law passed by the councils of Alexandria, Va., which is exceedingly obnoxious to the citizens of that ancient burgh, and which has attracted considerable attention the past few days, will in all probability receive its quietus on Thursday next by a decision of the court, the case being taken there by our neighbor, the Sunday Herald. The facts in the case are as follows: "The Herald determined that its Alexandria readers should have their paper, and to this end published a notice on Saturday in the Alexandria Gazette stating that their subscribers could obtain the same by applying at the residence of Mr. Harry Foltz, on Royal street. The consequence of this was that Mr. Foltz, who is foreman of the Herald, was arrested on Monday for baving violated the Sunday law and his case set up for a hearing before Mayor Smith yesterday morning. Messrs. Kent and Brent appeared for Mr. Foltz, and showed to any candid mind that the law had not been offended against in this case, as Mr. Foltz was merely performing an act of courtesy. It was evident, however, that Mayor Smith had decided the case before he heard it, and he imposed a fine. Mr. Foltz refused to pay the fine, and then was committed. A writ of habeas corpus was immediately sworn out, and a hearing of the same fixed by the court for Thursday morning next, when the constitutionality of this law will be tested.

fit. The piece selected is "Ingomar," which will be presented with all its barbaric splendor and poetic beauty by a carefully selected stock. The Georgia Minstrels had another good house last night, and the excellent entertainment which they present was thoroughly enjoyed. The tickets for Mr. E. J. Whipple's benefit, which is to take place at the Masonic Temple on Friday next, are selling quite rapidly. Among the numbers of the programme will be the "Angels' Serenade," sung by Miss Minnie Ewan, accompanied by Professor Bischoff and Professor Kaspar, who will play a violin obligato. The rest of the programme will be equally attractive. The Blue Anchor.

The District of Columbia auxiliary of the above organization held a meeting yesterday in the chapel of All Souls' Church, Mrs. Admiral Rogers presiding. Among those present were Mrs. Chief-Justice Waite, Mrs. Secretary Windom, Mrs. Horatio King, Mrs. Justice Hagner, Miss Caroline Ransom, Mrs. Dr. Wallace, Mrs. H. D. Willard, and a number of the numerous "Florence Nightingales" who served suffering humanity in the late war, and who have volunteered their services to this association in its noble sanitary and relief work. On motion of the chairman of the executive committee, Hon. William Lawrence was nominated a member of the advisory board and unanimously elected. A box of supplies for shipwrecked persons was reported for the Point Aux Barques Station, on Lake Huron. Mrs. Metzerott spoke of a report current in local papers relating to a contemplated organization of national charity under the auspices of the Red Cross, and asked the secretary of the National Association to explain what it meant and in what respect it differed from the undertaking of the relief associations already organized. The lady, in reply, made a clear and succinct statement of the nature of the Red Cross organization, and the difference between that and the Relief Association, which has adopted the sign of the Blue Anchor.
